The company also announced the completion of the following key milestones and recent developments in the fourth quarter and full year 2020 as well as 2021 to date, all of which it achieved despite the challenges posed by the global COVID-19 pandemic:

- OpGen completed, with one healthcare focused U.S. institutional investor, the following gross capital raises:
  - o $10 million private placement priced at the market in November 2020
  - $25 million registered direct offering in February 2021 priced at the market
  - $ 9.7 million warrant exercise and exchange in March 2021
- OpGen announced the publication of the final study results of the Unyvero HPN Panel for diagnosis of bacterial co-infections in ICU patients with COVID-19 pneumonia demonstrating that the panel would enable crucially important rapid diagnosis of pathogens of concern in these patients, as well as a high negative predictive value of 99.8% for pathogen detection.
- OpGen announced the release of two new peer-reviewed publications, the first demonstrating that the Unyvero LRT BAL panel accurately detects 19 bacteria alongside Pneumocystis jirovecii and 10 antibiotic resistance genes directly from bronchoalveolar lavage fluid, allowing enhanced diagnosis of lower respiratory tract infections, and the second publication highlighting Ares Genetics in best practice techniques for AI-powered prediction of antibiotic susceptibility testing by next-generation sequencing.
- The Chinese regulatory authority NMPA approved the Curetis Unyvero instrument system as IVD for Chinese market with the application of Unyvero cartridge for pneumonia currently under review and pending NMPA approval.
- OpGen subsidiary Curetis entered into an exclusive distribution partnership in Colombia with Annar Health Technologies for Curetis' Unyvero A50 platform.

- Curetis, obtained CE mark certification in the European Union for its own SARS-CoV-2 Kit with PULB for the detection of SARS-CoV-2, the virus that causes COVID-19. These kits were sold to some of Curetis' European distributors as well as used by Curetis for the SARS-CoV-2 testing service offered to regional German customers.
- OpGen's subsidiary, Ares Genetics GmbH, completed the transition of leadership to Dr. Arne Materna, who was appointed as Managing Director and CEO of Ares Genetics effective January 1, 2021. Ares Genetics extended its collaboration with Sandoz within its pharma partnering program and added another project with Sandoz in 2021 to assess the potential of molecular surveillance for better informed therapeutic guidance and antibiotic stewardship.
- Ares Genetics presented advances of its research use only (RUO) based ares-genetics.cloud platform for predictive antibiotic susceptibility testing (pAST) at various scientific conferences.
- Ares Genetics was granted a key patent on antimicrobial resistance prediction from genomic data, supporting the company's vision to improve guidance for antimicrobial therapy through Al-powered prediction of AMR and the discovery of diagnostic biomarkers.
- Ares Genetics joined the JPIAMR Network for Integrating Microbial Sequencing and Platforms for Antimicrobial Resistance (Seq4AMR). The network will provide guidelines and solutions to microbial sequencing for the detection, surveillance and management of difficult-to-treat infections caused by AMR microorganisms.
- After a three-month delay in FDA review of the Acuitas AMR Gene Panel 510(k) submission due to the FDA's prioritization of COVID-19 and influenza related EUAs, OpGen has received confirmation that the FDA has resumed its review of the submission. Currently, OpGen is actively engaged in receiving and responding to feedback from the FDA to facilitate a final clearance decision for the Acuitas AMR Gene Panel as soon as practicable.
- OpGen plans to exit its FISH business by the end of the first quarter of 2021 and in the fall of 2020 ended the Acuitas AMR Gene Panel urine trial in favor of two new upcoming U.S. clinical trials towards a future FDA submission for the Unyvero UTI (complicated urinary tract infections) and IJI (invasive joint infections) applications, respectively.
- The 90-day exclusive negotiation period that Ares Genetics had agreed to with a global leading IVD corporation partner towards a potential collaboration and licensing deal recently expired. Ares Genetics has since engaged in and continues to have multiple parallel, non-exclusive partnering and licensing discussions with potential corporate partners.

Mr. Schacht continued: "Despite the unprecedented and industry wide delays in FDA review of non COVID-19 related submissions, we are confident in our anticipation of a clearance decision as soon as practicable for the FDA's staff for the Acuitas AMR Gene Panel with the FDA actively engaged in the review of the submission. Our Unyvero business remains our core focus for the near-term. Following the most recent capital raises, OpGen maintains a strong cash position of almost $40 million, despite the ongoing challenges presented to the business. The Company continues to see strong growth potential across our portfolio and additional partnership opportunities that further demonstrate the strength of our model."
